COULDN'T HIT BALL SAFE

While Booth Was Touched Up for a Big Bunch of Hits—The Score Was 4 to 1 in Favor of Montpelier.

Goddard and Montpelier buried the tomahawk and met again on the intensity diamond yesterday afternoon as if there had been no truce over the swarming of the first game to the former by forfeit. The result yesterday was disconcerting to Goddard, for the Methodist showed that they could play ball with a steady pitcher in the box. The score was 4 to 1 to the latter.

It was what might be called a ball game in double measure, for both the Montpelier twirler and his opponents in the hollow of his hand most of the time. The six singles of his delivery were as far apart as they were useless except in the eighth, when a package of two through the crimson and white team their only tally. Ball was on his feet all the time, giving but one pitch and hitting none. On the other hand, Booth was wild, hitting two men in the very heat and passing four others on poor balls. Booth was also hit often during the last part of the game, although four of the ten swings might have been out with just finding.

Jerome Berry did the best he could to hold Booth down, but his brother, Stanley, played a poky game on third, his faults being errors of omission. He failed to put his foot on the base for a sure face-out on one occasion, and on another he faltered on a little swipe and a runner went home and a hit was credited to Montpelier. Dutton played a finished game on first, besides napping the ball for two safe drives. Montpelier's first baseman, Wyant, also put up a good game, while Henson was a star in center field. These two with the hitting of Bigelow and the box work of Ball were the stars for the down-the-river team.

The batters and grand stand looked like old times when the game started, as there were 1,340 spectators. The opening innings looked like a pitcher's battle, as there was no scoring and very scrappy hitting up to the sixth inning. Montpelier had secured two scratches and one clean hit up to that point, and Goddard but one, and the fielders were playing a good game. In fact, they had to be some sharp infield work on Goddard's part to make up for Booth's wildness. In three innings the Methodists got a man on third base and twice the bases were full, but the side was retired without a score each time.

In the first inning Booth thumped Shima and Bell advanced him on a sacrifice. Then Booth hit Wyant a disturbing crack in the arm and Smith jugged Bigelow's grounder long enough for the runner to get first. With the bases full and only one out, it looked like a save, but Mitchell hit straight at Booth and a pretty double play resulted, the ball going home to force Ball and Berry getting the base easily. The umpire called the runner out, probably because of interference, although the base runner kept strictly in the base line. Brown, on another occasion was too quick to turn away and called a ball on Wyant when the entire crowd saw the batter swing at the ball, which was after Brown had looked away. His other decisions were manifestly fair and all in all there was some satisfaction in watching the game.

WHISKEY OR FOOD*WHICH DO YOU TAKE?

Some Interesting Remarks on the Subject.

To be strong and healthy or to be weak and sickly, which do you prefer? Health is a gift of priceless value and with health, strength can be acquired. Strong men and women are the Nation's pride and are responsible for the proper development of future generations. To become strong, one must have lots of good healthy flesh from which to develop muscle.

Persons leading sedentary lives and those employed in factories, mills, etc., do not have the natural strength which is possessed by those whose occupations keep them out of doors. Inactivity and confinement indoors causes a relaxation of the muscles and consequently strength does not develop.

What shall be done for these people? Many things stimulate and yet harm. Others take the various remedies which are offered but these are worse than nothing. Most of them contain a large percentage of alcohol, and while they may produce an exhilarating effect at the start, their use works until injury. They slowly but surely disarrange the system and when this is discontinued, the reaction sets in which leaves the victim in a condition where it is necessary to use energetic measures. An examination of the tissues of the body will disclose the fact that the alcohol which is being taken into the system injures and consumes them, instead of healing and building them up.

What shall be taken when your system is run down and your vitality is low? Obviously what is needed is a food that produces fat and repairs the wasted tissues; something that enriches the blood and increases circulation; a food that does not destroy.

Such a food is Magee's (Malt) Emulsion. It is a combination of pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil with syrup, dextrose, non-alcoholic Malt and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. The oil is fat and makes fat in the body. The Hypophosphites are a tonic. You thus get a food, a medicine and a tonic combined. If you are run down Magee's (Malt) Emulsion will build you up just as surely as the sun will rise on the morrow. It guards you against Cold, Grip and Pneumonia by putting your system in shape to withstand the ravages of winter weather. It builds up steadily and holds all it gains for you.

Brews of the wine preparations of liver oil. They contain no oil and consequently cannot produce the fat which is desired and the alcohol in them turns down instead of building up the tissues.

Remember Magee's (Malt) Emulsion is non-alcoholic; it contains no wine, no whiskey; it is food and food alone. It may be procured of E. A. Drown, Druggist, 48 North Main street, Barre, Vt.

There was no wrangling to be sure; Brown wouldn't even look at a book of rules when he gave what was apparently a wrong decision, and ordered Captain Booth off the diamond with it. It was in the seventh, when J. Berry hit a slow one toward first. The ball rolled directly toward first. The ball rolled directly in the base line, and Bill in trying to field it got raped by the runner and dropped the ball. Berry getting the base easily.
